

COMMUNITY IN NATURE

OUR CIN JOURNEY

Our group created a lighthearted documentary to remind people of the behaviour we should uphold when visiting parks. From this experience, we developed a deeper understanding of wildlife in Singapore and we hope our audience felt the same way too!

Through this process, we had a better understanding of ensuring the welfare of wildlife. The project not only broadens our horizons but also taught us to be appreciative of the things around us. Most importantly, the project served as an inspiration to us to always protect the environment and helped us in understanding that our actions have the potential to positively impact the environment.

"Even as we are surrounded by digital devices, nature education is still extremely crucial to help us realise and treasure the beauty of nature around us. The Earth belongs to all of us and we should be united to protect it."