In a space-constrained environment, plants can be used to create a comfortable and cosy corner for relaxation even in the smallest confines of our homes. Plants bring natural beauty to our living spaces, improve air quality, and foster a sense of well-being. Step into this oasis, take a deep breath and be thankful for all the plants that play an important role in lives.

B02

Wine connotes happiness and friendship. It is also symbolic of transformation, sustenance, and growth. Nature's blessing and the renewal of life are celebrated through the diversity of plants overflowing from the recycled wine bottles as water flows from the bottles in a cascade of soothing serenity.

This green pocket brings new life to vintage roots with a touch of modern elegance. Featuring exotic rare plants and edibles, this landscape weaves together elements of functionality, food sustainability and a passion for horticulture, creating a calm and tranquil respite for its owners.

Wellness Living with Nature

Designer:

Ten Swee Kien

Teck Heng Landscape & Construction Pte Ltd

B03

This showcase aims to inspire through connecting with nature, reaping a wholesome and flourishing life for humans.

Nature brings about wellness in both mental and physical aspects, thus the living space was designed using biomorphism, flowing water, natural materials and living plants. Both Aroids and Edible Greenwalls promote home gardening, which enables us to connect directly with plants and be in sync with the natural rhythm of nature. The pot-to-table concept of growing and eating one's own fresh produce provides a sustainable way of living. This nature immersion experience will be beneficial as we adapt to the new norm of city living.

Acts of Design that Repair, Restore and Regenerate. Seeking Connectedness of human-made and natural systems.

A dwelling design led by nature, to reduce climate change to save Mother Earth.

Framed by a recycled Bintagor pole with plantings on the wall creating a sense of warmth and comfort, the garden features an Olive tree symbolising peace and friendship. The Bintagor pole carries on inwards creating a seamless connection between the balcony and living space, while radiant colors from the restored Mahogany floor comes alive. The mirror and antique metal grill take centerstage in the living room, creating an extension of the living room space.

B06

Taking inspiration from a terrarium, this balcony mimics an enclosed garden that is integrated with the interior design with the aim to make it liveable for users. The intermodular green wall and artificial turf further enhance the spatial quality of the space while at the same time maintaining the thermal comfort of the home. Softscapes in varying textures, hanging plants and the swing chair have been designed to create a sanctuary for the senses. The usage of an invisible grill in a small space presents an unobstructed view while providing a safe and restful environment for pets and families with children.

The design aims to combine personal spaces with a floral garden concept. We achieved this concept by incorporating the use of various plant species which have different features such as colours and growth type.

Wooden fixtures at the sides enhance privacy and create additional spaces for more landscaping choices. The centre of the balcony space is less dense so that the view of the scenery outside remains unblocked.

The principal material used is wood, which creates an effect that allows users to feel closer to nature whilst inducing a sense of calmness.

A balcony is like a corner of the universe. It is dynamic although it looks still and calm. Through the arrangement of planting and eco-friendly furniture, we have created a garden escape for people who have been confined and isolated during the pandemic.

This balcony garden uses only natural / eco-friendly materials. Most of the components are hand-made, promoting DIY solutions for the household.
