Artists' Night Out – X'mas Edition!

(Programme Code: AC70)

Come celebrate this festive season at Artists' Night Out! Enjoy a myriad of activities such as carolling, performances, interactive installations and an Artist Market, where you can buy handmade gifts for loved ones.

Artists' Night Out – Featured Artist

My name is Alia and I'm a performer. I've been singing solo on stage since I was 13 and I've had many embarrassing moments, but it's never stopped me from performing. There are good days and bad days, but the key is to never give up. The stage is my home. I love emoting through music and connecting with the audience through it. My favourite genres of music span from the 1940s to the 1970s. I tend to perform popular hits from this era, although I do perform newer songs too. I feel that was the age when the lyrics and music were honest. My musical influences range from Peggy Lee, Liza Minelli and Nat King Cole to Regina Spektor, Fiona

Apple and Kate Nash. Disney is my biggest influence.

Catch Alia at the upcoming Artists' Night Out – X'mas Edition.

Q: What got you started as an artist who works with natural materials?

I have always loved nature because it gives me a sense of calm and warmth. Natural materials are the best because they are easily obtainable.

Q: What inspires you?

Natural wood grains. I like to create presentable and meaningful pieces that breathe new life into dead wood.

Q: What advice can you give to artists who are new to working with wood?

Passion and perseverance are key when working with wood because it is not an easy material to work with! You will find yourself spending a lot of time and effort in making your art piece and you will definitely be getting your hands dirty!

Q: Tell us a little bit about the organisation you are in – Sculpture Society (Singapore).

Sculpture Society (Singapore) was formed in 2001 by a group of passionate individuals with the primary mission to raise appreciation of sculpture among the public, as well as to enhance the artistic development of its members through exchange and other endeavours.

(Programme Code: CP70)

In celebration of Singapore's 50th birthday, a series of free outdoor concerts will be held in our parks. Concerts will feature a mix of performances by well-known local talents, community groups and other fringe activities.

About Bishan - Ang Mo Kio Park

Bishan - Ang Mo Kio Park is one of the largest urban parks in central Singapore, covering a full 62 hectares of unique waterways and greenery. Under PUB's Active, Beautiful and Clean (ABC) Waters programme, the old concrete canal has been deconcretised and naturalised into a beautiful 3 km meandering river with lush banks of wildflowers.

The river is now home to a wide array of interesting fauna and flora. Its transformation has created a seamless blue-green recreational network which is well-integrated with nearby residential areas. With the Pond Gardens and River Plains, the park offers a variety of spaces for the community to enjoy. It is a popular choice for cycling, jogging and family gatherings, with the open lawns and gently sloping grassy banks along either side of the river.

SG50 Concert Series in the Park

(Programme Code: CP71)

In celebration of Singapore's 50th birthday, a series of free outdoor concerts will be held in our parks. Concerts will feature a mix of performances by well-known local talents, community groups and other fringe activities.

About Admiralty Park

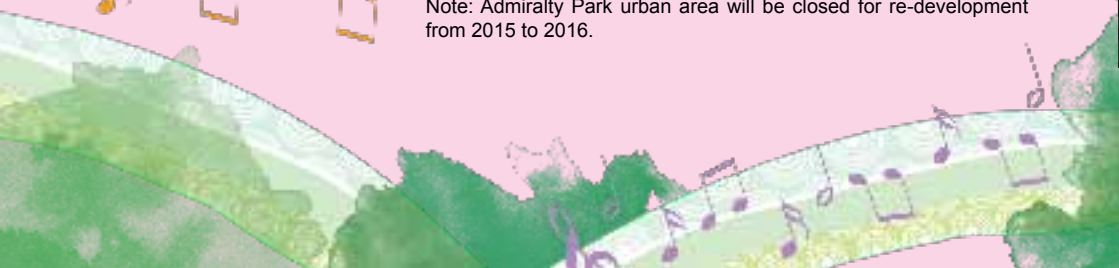

Located in Woodlands, Admiralty Park is the largest nature area (20 hectares) within an urban park and is home to more than 100 species of flora and fauna. Geographically, it is situated on hilly terrain with a river, Sungei Cina, running through it. The nature area, previously a floodplain and freshwater swamp forest, encompasses a diverse mix of secondary forest, mangrove, riverine and open grassland habitats. This variety of habitats offers you a wider choice of nature activities in a compact area, be it spotting dragonflies, examining secondary forest species or observing monkeys in their natural habitat.

As you walk on this 2km trail, enjoy the beautiful views of the different ecosystems. The three bridges, which are strategically placed to connect habitats, are excellent spots for closer observation of the river, mangrove and wildlife.

When you emerge from the secondary forest near North carpark, you will see a grassland. Keep a lookout for butterflies and different species of birds as you walk through the park.

The last bit of the walking trail also showcases interesting flora like the Putat Kampung Tree and climbers like Hedgehog Rattan (an increasingly rare plant in Singapore). Indeed, Admiralty Park, which has both natural and built environments, is proof that nature and urbanisation can co-exist.

Note: Admiralty Park urban area will be closed for re-development from 2015 to 2016.

Featured Gardening Enthusiasts

Q: Tell us more about yourself and your hobby.

My wife and I bought our first Tillandsia (commonly known as air plants) in 2006. Since then, our collection has grown to more than 500 different species and hybrids.

Q: What kick-started your passion for horticulture?

Air plants are unique, given that they do not need soil to grow and can easily absorb nutrients and water through their leaves. They are relatively easy to care for.

Q: What words of advice/inspiration can you give to fellow horticulture hobbyists?

For beginners, there is a wealth of information available online and within the green community. Do not be afraid to ask for help. The joy that you get from watching plants flourish under your care is out of this world.

Heritage on the Hill

(Programme Code: NR04)

Once the seat of Malay royalty in the 14th century, it was home to colonial governors and turned into a fort in the 19th century. In modern times, it was used as a military base during the Second World War. Today, a display of ancient relics dating back to the 14th century as well as the Fort Gate, remnant of the fortress built in the 1860s, are reminders of Singapore's rich past.
